

Hi Bill!

Jan 8

First letter of 2013! I'm hoping you will keep up with your letters seeing as I don't think you're working as much. Also I still have to upload the other pictures to flickr and hope to do so soon!

I have enclosed a little something for you because you missed the 10th Bumblebee Cafe!! I made it with sturdier paper because it was a special occasion.

There is also a late gift for Fran I had to finish knitting, hope you can guess what they are - oh and for the Bumble Bee Cafe only 9 people came, not as many as if we were in Van.

I was thinking I should write the 1st Floor tenants a letter though! - back to before I also finished knitting my first scarf but didn't like it so I'm not giving it to chloe as planned, BUT I knit her a new one over the vacation and I like it much more. Keep that info on the down low, it's top secret. I haven't sent it off yet. I am also going to try to knit this harder ~~scarf~~ <sup>scarf</sup> cause it looks really cool in the end.

For school we're reading To Kill a Mockingbird. I read it last year and liked it, but some people don't seem to.

I am also going snow camping on the 2 to 5th of Feb. It's for my school online class in taking and I must of told you about it. If not e-mail me and I'll clear it all up.

Last thing is that this coming 20th, I will be having my Canada Cord Celebration. It's for girl guides and you have to do certain criteria, and at the end your gold camp, which I planned on our trip and then went home sooner then hoped to plan. Well I can't wait for your visit, and <sup>also</sup> want to see JP and Lies soon.

Love
Samantha
