

Hi Bill,

June letter

This is my June letter. I think I will write about my summer course because not much else happened in June. This one Astronomy 101 course cost me soo much money. To apply to the school and then pay for the course and materials. On the bright side I got a bus pass for the whole summer.

My class was Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 10:30 to 12:20. It was hard. There were a lot of concepts and theories to remember, and all the differences between all the planets. There was so much to remember in my brain. I really did try. I passed all my labs. There were 5. I got a pretty good grade on all of them. And my iclicker attendance was high so in the end I passed the course.

For the exam I studied for 3 days intermitently. I made Q-cards and study guides and tried to learn all the differences in the terrestrial and Jovian planets.

The teacher was super nice. He had an online anonymous survey for questions or comments on the course. He was vocal with communicating with the students, always sending out emails and answering our questions. We were actually behind on the course because he talked a lot. But it wasn't bad. It sounds like some of the other students didn't like him as much, but I'm not exactly sure why. I overheard them talking in our labs. Overall I really liked the course. It was really interesting. I have a lot of fun space facts now. I appreciate my space stickers.

Love
