

Hi Bill

Oct 18th

This is my October letter. I haven't received one from you in a while. You're pretty behind.

It's been getting busy here. I'm sure you've noticed I have not posted as much on my blog.

I have my two classes, one in class with Disney, and one online with UCR. And also my supervised training, which is my internship class. And I work about 38 hours a week (less than merch which makes me sad). So I've been busy busy with reading and writing and quizzes. I work till 9, which is earlier than merch, but it takes way longer to get home. Ten minutes vs. an hour. So I'm not home till 10:15 or 10:30 then I have to do my home things. And writing in my journal, and also my blog takes quite a while, and it just pushes everything back.

It's been a struggle, and I'm excited to be almost home. Can't wait to be working in my field and getting on with my life.

Love

Samantha
