

Hi Bill,

(Sept letter)

Oct 31st

Another day... more homework for me. Though I'm sure you know all about that. This term I'm doing 3 courses. A rec class, a communications class, and a marketing class. The marketing isn't a required class, but a pre-req to a required course.

I'm having some struggles. I find working mid-day to evening, it is hard to get that homework in, and I have been staying up later and later. Getting home, having to make dinner, clean up, maybe go to the gym before hand. I'm very overwhelmed.

My struggle recently was my marketing group project. I was given a group, and though I tried engaging them in conversation on multiple occasions, I always got nothing. So I spoke to the teacher and she let me, or should I say offered to let me complete the project alone. So I took the offer, but I've been having a hard time starting.

Our project is to come up with a product or service. Then we have to create a marketing plan. There are a lot of elements. I'm afraid I won't get it all done in time. I've got until November long weekend.

19 70

(natal 42)

10/27/70

would've gotten a bit of help from all of them and I'm sure I will be getting more. A lot of what was getting in my way was the midterm. I have a horrendous bill but fine. There's a month left of school until exams.

I've got this I suppose since I'm not sure if I'm going to be in the hospital or not. I know that love and I will be together. I'll be with you. ^{xxxx}
Samantha

I tried reading them in conversation or at least I was first to drop my things
and I was first to drop my things.

There is my September letter.
I have been busy with school and work, but now I too am almost caught up in my months
love Samantha

H. B. B.