

Hi Bill,

Oct 20

A little late but I have been busy lately. I decided to apply for a trip to England with girl guides. I hope I go if I get my application in on time. I have been procrastinating. September I went on my first camping trip

With my online class. We were supposed to rock climb but it rained so we practiced inside. They attached the ropes to the beams across the ceiling. We did go out once but the rock was wet so we didn't get very much in. We also practiced rappelling inside. We used ladders to get high. We did go hiking in the rain though. And we played games and sat around a campfire inside the barn as they call it. We played circle games, and my friend did a polar bear swim for her birthday which was while we were camping. We also did a relay. We even had a movie the teachers friends made about avalanche awareness called All. I. Can I'm pretty sure. We got treatment. It was fun like always. The next two trips are in Feb. and March April or May. Snow and Kayak Camping!
